Friends Give Farewell Smoker

Thursday evening was the occasion of a farewell smoker given Messrs. A. N. McDonald and George Julien on the eve of their departure for Moose Jaw, where they both have accepted positions. About forty friends of the gentlemen gathered in the dining room of the Rosbud Hotel where a most creditable program was given, the hit of the evening being made by our popular townsman, Alf. Smith, who, with his deep bass voice, and in a charming manner, sang a solo that completely captivated his hearers. The management of the Rosbud contributed to the already good reputation of the hotel by serving a very enjoyable lunch, while J. W. Phillipson, as chairman of the evening, kept something doing every minute. A. R. Kendrick, on behalf of the Crystal Dairy, Ltd., presented Mr. McDonald with a token of appreciation of his services with the following speech:

"On behalf of the Crystal Dairy, Ltd., on this, the eve of your departure, Mr. McDonald, we have felt that we could not let the opportunity slip by, of showing in some material way our appreciation of your services for the past three years.

We have always found you a man of sterling qualities and capable of mastering the dairy profession perfectly. Your ever congenial disposition and reliability since the opening day of our plant in this town have proven some of the leading features toward developing and winning the confidence of the general public who patronize us. In future, our present staff's thoughts will revert to the pleasant hours and days spent with you. We shall miss you, but knowing you as we do, we foresee that you will create as many and as true friends in your new position and location as you are leaving behind you.

Mr. Julien was the recipient of a like token from the same source. The Pioneer joined with the many friends of Messrs. McDonald and Julien in extending the very best wishes for success in their new positions.

Olds Plays Rough Game

Hockey fans went up in the air last Wednesday night when Olds and Didsbury came together on the local ice, the rough work of the visitors causing a great deal of bad feeling. The game started out fairly good, but Olds started their usual chopping tactics and the referee, Eugene, of Red Deer, while good on checking officials, failed to penalize the players for rough work.

Suddenly after the game started, Wood, the fast local centre player, was hit a smashing blow in the eye with the stick which put him out of the game and crippled the locals badly. It was plainly an accident but Wood suffered considerably and at first it was thought he would lose the sight of the eye, but he was sent down to a specialist at Calgary who states that it will come out alright.

The game could not be called hockey because of the rough stuff that was pulled off. If the Olds team want to win the championship of the league with this kind of play, there will be mighty little honor in it.

Peace and Its Obligations

With the normal exchange of obligations of the Peace Treaty of Versailles by Germany and the great powers, with the exception of the United States, and many of the lesser powers, the Great War came to an official end on Sunday, January 10, 1919, and peace in its international sense once more prevailed in a world distracted by war for over five years.

This exchange of obligations, and the official proclamation of peace, might have been accomplished much sooner but for the demands of the Germans in seeking their surrendered fleet at Scapa Flow during the progress of the peace negotiations. As a result of this demand, the Allies insisted upon a proposed to the Peace Treaty, and this proposal, Germany was compelled to sign on January 10, before the exchange of obligations took place.

Peace is now a accomplished fact, and with the coming into effect of the Treaty of Versailles the League of Nations, thus becomes an established organization. It is no longer merely a paper organization, a document of principles, but a body of men, ready to carry out the purposes of the League. This is a body of men, ready to carry out the purposes of the League. This is a body of men, ready to carry out the purposes of the League.

For the time being Germany and the other nations which were in alliance with Germany in the war are not admitted to membership in the League. This must first prove their sincerity and honesty of purpose in carrying out the objects of the League. Then and only then will they be admitted to full membership. The United States is not a member as yet, because, owing to political differences in that country, which are acute because of the approaching presidential election, the Senate has not yet ratified the Peace Treaty with its League of Nations movement. It is the duty of the United States and other to carry out the Treaty of Versailles, and join the League. Such a refusal would be a denial of everything for which the American people stand for.

Included in the covenant of the League is Germany in the war are not admitted to membership in the League. This must first prove their sincerity and honesty of purpose in carrying out the objects of the League. Then and only then will they be admitted to full membership.

its care, and in the solution of which alone will be found a guarantee of permanent peace.

But while international peace has been again established, a gigantic task still confronts all nations in the bringing about of domestic peace and wholehearted co-operation among the peoples of the respective countries. The Great War created such a world upheaval, and resulted in such a loosening and breaking away from the foundations and accepted conditions of the past, largely destroying old political ties and changing economic conditions everywhere, that now today are more or less unsettled in their ideas. It is a time when great leaders, men of conviction and courage, are needed, and when all people aspire to exercise a large degree of patience and a high and lofty patriotism.

In the natural, suffering and sorrows of the Great War mankind hopes that many of the old abuses and evils of the past have been destroyed; that all the destruction that took place was not in vain, but that much of it will prove to have been good. On the other hand, mankind also hopes that because of the sacrifices made, the sufferings borne, the patriotism and heroism displayed, there will come a nobler conception of man's duty to his fellowmen, a higher standard in religion, in intellectual attainment, in social relations, in community life and service.

In this new peace era—in this dawn of the twentieth century of a changed world in the world's history—the people of all nations should turn their backs on the past, and forgetting their ill-fates which are behind, press onward with faces alight and hands joined to grasp the more glorious things that lie ahead. The responsibility for the peace is upon the people, and the responsibility for the peace is upon the people.

We have undergone all the sufferings, the horrors, the losses of the Great War. We have borne up and worked together with a national determination to achieve victory at the end. We have created our League of Nations. Now, in the interests of all and of our common country which by our efforts we have saved from enemy domination, let us remain united, united more firmly than ever, in cordial cooperation to bring out of the Great War the maximum of blessing to all.

ARE YOU WEAK AND RUN DOWN?

In This Condition Only a Tonic Medicine Can Renew Your Health.

The condition of being "run down" is one that doctors do not recognize as a disease. The physician of today who gets his training in a hospital where only severe disorders are encountered knows little about it. But those who are run down in health know that it is not a trifling ailment. The expression "run down," applied to health means a condition in which all the bodily functions are enfeebled. Appetite fails, the digestive system is deranged, the nervous system is exhausted, the complexion becomes pale or sallow, there is no animation, but rather a weary and tired expression. Fatigue is a constant symptom. No particular organ being affected, you must look for relief to the blood. As it circulates through every part of the body, any improvement in the condition of the blood is quickly reflected throughout the entire system. As a restorer of the blood and builder of weak nerves, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stand at the head of all tonic medicines. Every dose of these pills helps to enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves, and thus the various organs receive their food and the body recovers its full vigor. Ample proof of this is given in the statement of Mr. William J. Brown, of Grand Street, Toronto, who says: "Two years ago while employed as a conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, I became much run down. I consulted a doctor who gave me medicine. But it proved fruitless as I was constantly growing weaker. My appetite completely failed and I fell away in weight until I only weighed 125 pounds. I was sometimes taken with fainting spells, and finally felt compelled to resign my position. I tried what I thought were the best remedies, but with no better results. I was growing weaker and weaker. One day I read in a paper an advertisement for Pink Pills. But by this time I was nearly dead, and feeling as nothing I had left to lose. I bought a box of the pills, and I could no longer refuse to try them. After a time I felt they were doing me good, and that I was continuing to grow, with the result that I was finally enabled to go back to my old position fully restored to health. I owe this splendid condition to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can strongly recommend them to any one suffering as I did."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or may be had by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Elephants Have Special Language
Which the Animals Understand.
Elephants do their best work in driving timber, working it with the current, releasing logs from jams and rolling the stranded logs back into the water. The elephant drivers have a special "elephant" language which the animals understand—a special elephant vocabulary with such terms as "hook ahead," "hook," "pull out," "stop," "lift your chains." They are magnificent workmen. When they swim from bank to bank, herding the logs that require their special attention, you are holding of them except the tips of their trunks through which they breathe, and the mahouts, or drivers, who are generally in water up to their waists. If a big stack of jam breaks suddenly where elephants are working, they know the danger of being overtaken. They trumpet and clear off to either bank or swim downstream as fast as they can go.

Building Activity In Calgary

Calgary's Building Returns for 1919 Show $1,000,000 Increase.

Based on the preliminary estimate published recently the total value of the building permits issued in Calgary, Alberta, during the year 1919, the completed figures show that the aggregate was nearly two and a quarter million dollars. The exact total was $2,211,110, as compared to $1,196,800 in 1918, an increase of $1,014,310. For the last three years, the report of building permits issued each year have shown figures just about double those of the preceding year in value.

"The public must know that labor unions have decreased production, added to costs and raised the expense of living."

The above statement was made by Judge Robert H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation, and was either prompted by the idea that his prestige would put the assertion across, or by a distorted sense of humor. While it may be true that labor unions have, in some instances, decreased production, their contribution to the expense of living has been small. In any case, Gary's statement is much ridiculous by the following, taken from the income statistics issued by the War Labor Board:

"The profits of the U. S. Steel Corporation for the year 1917 show an increase of 1,887 per cent. over the year 1914." Incidentally, the increase in wages over the same period was a little over 70 per cent.

The excuse of "high wages" being responsible for the present cost of living has been overworked and doesn't go any more. The general public dearly loves to be fooled, but it is now more difficult to fool them for any length of time, the reason being that they are becoming more independent and have not such implicit faith in the old political parties as they once had.

Doctors say if people kept their bowels in proper order there would be no such disease on record as appendicitis. It is the safety to neglect and is therefore preventable.

If you have constipation, bad breath or headache you need medicine right away.

The moment you suspect your bowels are clogged you should take Dr. Hamilton's Pills, the smoothest and regular of them all. They move the bowels and cleanse the liver so smoothly you scarcely notice the effect. But you can act the action just the same. Taken at night you wake up next morning clear-headed, humorous, relaxed, energetic, feeling like a different man.

Why don't you spend a quarter to-day and try Dr. Hamilton's Pills? They work so easy, just as nature would order, never grip or cause headache. Finest thing for the liver, out of cots, dizziness, fading in color and spirits.

Folks that use Dr. Hamilton's Pills are never sick, never attack with a pain—feel good all the time simply because their system is clean, regulated and healthy. This you can easily prove yourself.

THE COW PUNCHER

A fire was burning in the grate. Dave walked to it, and very slowly and deliberately thrust the cigarette and the chequered into the flame. For a moment the grained pillars stood out after the body of the fire, but was consumed, then all fell to ashes.

"Well, if that doesn't put 'em out," Mrs. Hardy murmured. "Are all cow punchers so discontented?"

"I mean no discontent," said Dave. "And I have a good right to be discontented. I should have said before that it was with the deepest regret I learned from your conversation of the death of Dr. Hardy. He was a gentleman who commanded respect as he must have commanded it as a doctor of all who knew him. If any behavior has caused me to leave this place, I have only myself to blame. Dr. Hardy's widow and his daughter."

"It is a peculiar service," Mrs. Hardy murmured, "but for her I had a private against Dave. He had not lived down to her conception of what a real Western ranch should be. Even the best of the business, the agreement and the chequered, though it was, was a point to it that seemed inappropriate. Dave should have snatched the papers if he would have been better if the papers had found over them. He should have crumpled them in rage and consumed them to the fire with curses. Mrs. Hardy felt that in such conduct there would have been nothing true to form. His assumption of the manner of a gentleman annoyed her exceedingly.

"I can only apologize for my partner's behavior," said Dave. "I need not, however, attend the transaction in the slightest degree. A new agreement will be drawn at once—an agreement in which the firm of Conway & Eldon will not be concerned."

"That will be more satisfactory," said Mrs. Hardy. She intended the remark for Dave's ears, but he had moved to a corner of the room and was conversing in low tones with Irene.

"I am sorry I had to make your mother's acquaintance under circumstances which, I fear, she will not even try to understand," he had said to Irene. "I am sure she will not credit me with unworldly motives."

"Oh, Dave—Mr. Eldon, I mean—that is—you don't know how proud you don't know how proud you are."

"She was flushed and excited. 'Perhaps I shouldn't talk like this. Perhaps you are right. It all depends on one thing,' Dave interrupted.

"What is that?"

"It all depends on whether we are Miss Hardy and Mr. Eldon, or whether they are all Renee and Dave."

Her bright eyes had fallen to the floor, and he could see the tremor of her fingers as they rested on the back of a chair. She did not answer him directly. But in a moment she spoke. "Mother will buy the house from Mr. Conway," she said. "She is like that. And when we are settled you will come and see me, won't you—Dave?"

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

When the Hardys had gone, Conway turned to Eldon. "We had better try and find out where we stand," he said, trying to speak dispassionately, but there was tremor in his voice.

"I agree," returned Eldon, who had no desire to evade the issue. "Do you consider it fair to select inexperienced women for your victims?"

"Conway made a deprecating gesture. 'There is nothing to be gained by quarreling, Dave,' he said. 'Let us face the situation fairly. Let us get at the facts. When we have agreed as to facts, then we may agree as to procedure.'

"Shook" said Dave. He stood with his shoulder toward Conway, watching the dark settling about the foot of the bed. The street led away from the gathering darkness, and the square brick blocks stood in blue light, as if against a changeless sky. He became conscious of a strange yearning for this young metropolis, a sort of parental brooding, and a yearning for the life of a young man. It was his city; no one could claim it more than he. And it was a good city, and there was no one to inhibit and to dream about.

"I think," said Conway, "we can agree that the house is very snugly fitted upon themselves, and eventually they set themselves up. We have done well on our part. I think now to convert our paper into cash."

Dave turned about. "You know I don't claim to be any great authority," Conway said, "and I have no pity for a gambler who deliberately sits in and gets stung. Consequently I am not troubled with any self-righteousness for any of my holdings to which you may wish to take a look."

"Yes, I suppose so."

"And there's no other way, Dave," said Conway, rising and placing an arm on his partner's shoulder. "I sympathize with your point of view, but my boy, it's pure sentiment, and sentiment has no place in business. And you remember the terms of our partnership, don't you?"

As a matter of fact, several intending entrants already have been barred back on suspicion; others may be held pending investigation and a clean bill is being demanded of all would-be immigrants.

Notable Further Progress of The Union Bank of Canada

Assets Built Up To $175,000,000 and $20,000,000 Added To Reserve Fund—
Bank's Position Strengthened In Its History—1425 New Shareholders.

With assets built up to a total of $175,000,000 and $20,000,000 added to the Reserve, bringing that fund to a total of $5,600,000, the 50th annual report of the Union Bank of Canada discloses that the Bank is in the strongest position in its history. Its position is strengthened by the fact that Canada and abroad, aimed to assist in the latest possible development of growing Western Communities through the endorsement of their banking accommodation are announced.

The Union Bank of Canada's impressive figures are all the more gratifying having full regard for the vicissitudes of the reconstruction period through which the country has been passing.

The total deposits have reached $18,500,000, of this amount, interest-bearing deposits, which actually represent the savings of the nation, show a satisfactory increase of $15,000,000 in the year. This substantial gain was recorded in spite of heavy withdrawals for public participation in the Victory Loan 1919. Subscriptions passing through the Union Bank of Canada amounted to $38,500,000, a great proportion of which was directly withdrawn from deposits.

Current loans in Canada total $86,000,000 compared with $74,000,000, a gain of $12,000,000 or 16 per cent. This substantial gain will indicate that the Union Bank of Canada is doing its part toward meeting increased demand for loans from the Canadian people.

During 1919 the branch bank system was expanded to a total of 300 branches, an increase of 100 in the year. Every endeavor has been put forward to make comfortable the return of 936 members of the staff realized for overseas service, 123 had not the supreme sacrifice; 130 have not reported for duty, but 683 have been absorbed into the Bank again. Each of these returned officers has been re-instated at an increased salary.

The President, Mr. John Galt, and General Manager, Mr. H. B. Shaw, made a strong plea for national and individual thrift based upon the country's necessity of liquidating huge war debts.

"Trade conditions in Canada are good," said Mr. Galt. "We are getting high prices for our products. It is a time, however, when we should put forth every effort to increase production and build up reserves against lean years that are sure to come. The war is not paid for. Part of the price will be hard times, though they may not yet be in sight. If we are wise, we will prepare for them."

A Big Slump In Trade With The United States

Winnipeg. — In a despatch from its Ottawa correspondent, the Telegram says:

"The feature of the trade returns for November is that imports from the United States for the month show a decrease of $1,500,000 as compared with October, while those from Great Britain show an increase of about $1,200,000. The exports show a decline of approximately $6,000,000 as compared with October, while those of the United Kingdom show an increase of $5,600,000.

"The increase to the latter country is undoubtedly due to the shipments of what hurried out before the close of navigation.

"For the first eight months of the present fiscal year, exports to the United States declined $7,000,000 and imports declined $23,800,000. To the United Kingdom for the same period, exports declined $36,000,000, while imports increased $11,500,000."

Ottawa. — The cabinet council took up the question of the newspaper shortage which is causing the suspension of western Canadian newspapers through the action of the Fort Frances Pulp and Paper company in defying the orders of the paper controller, R. A. Pindeau.

The government, it is understood, is determined that the action of the paper controller will have full official support and that its orders must be carried out by the company in question.

The commissioner of the mounted police, Commissioner Perry, who is now in Ottawa, has been requested to see that the orders of Mr. Pindeau for the delivery of newspapers to the western papers are enforced.

Harry Rabinovich, of Winnipeg, said by federal authorities to have purchased the liquor in St. Louis and plotted to have the car robbed here on the way to Canada, where the whisky could be sold for higher prices than are being paid in Canada, was arraigned before a federal commissioner. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of conspiracy to rob the car and was remanded to jail. He was made to furnish $25,000 bail.

Agreements provide that the provinces shall expend an equal amount to that which they receive from the Dominion government.

Berlin Riots

Forty-two Killed and Over One Hundred Were Wounded.

London. — Reuters in its cables, pending, under date of Wednesday, says it is officially announced and seems to be finally established that 42 persons were killed and 105 wounded in the Redoubt fighting. Quiet prevailed during the night, the street patrols were heavily reinforced. Assist Stranded Soldiers

Help Will Be Given Individual Cases of Discharged Canadians in England.

Ottawa. — Questioned as to a report that provision was being made for bringing back to Canada some 3,000 Canadians who had taken their discharge in England and were now in a state of destitution, Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization, and who is also acting minister of militia, stated that no such wholesale action was being taken. Members of the C.E.F. who were discharged in England, he said, had entered into an undertaking that there was to be no further provision for their repatriation, but it was now found that many of them were in serious circumstances. Each individual case is being considered on its own merits, but where it is thought that a man would be better repatriated, he is being brought to Canada. The minister could make no estimate as to the number who would be brought across in this manner.

Manitoba Great War Veterans Pass Resolution on Big Reconstruction Policy.

Saskatchewan's Population.

Regina. — Saskatchewan's population is now 833,267, according to an announcement made in the legislature by Premier Martin, who based his statement on figures compiled by the local statistics branch of the provincial health bureau.

Toronto. — Canada's need, more production, was emphasized by Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the bank's annual meeting here. Sir Edmund said:

"While we and the rest of the world are failing to produce on a sufficient scale to provide for human comfort and to pay our debts, the price of everything has so increased that although our clearing houses and trade returns show higher figures in money, these generally represent transactions based on smaller quantities of merchandise and because we think in terms of dollars and not of merchandise, we are living in a fool's paradise."

Sir Edmund urged a continuation in the development of the industrial resources of the country in a similar spirit of co-operation to that which had won the war. "The rising curve of prices," he said, "cannot be made to turn downward without an increase in production and we can face the heavy obligations left by the war except by greatly increasing production."

Sir John Aird, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, gave a resume of the situation in respect to foreign exchange. "The rehabilitation of our dollar," he declared, "can only be accomplished by saving, economy and greater production."

No Relief From High Prices

Prof. G. W. Warren Thinks Cost of Living May Drop in From Five to Fifteen Years.

Winnipeg. — People who look for an immediate drop in the cost of living are due to disappointment, according to Prof. G. W. Warren, of Cornell university, one of the speakers at the Manitoba Rural Credit Societies here.

The only consolation Prof. Warren could give an expectant world was this: "Although the pre-war level may never be reached, it seems probable that a very considerable drop in prices will take place in five to fifteen years." High prices, Prof. Warren said, attributed not to the peace treaty, as he said some Americans were prone to believe, nor to profiteering and increased wages, but to inflated values, due to war conditions, and the world shortage of goods.

London. — Two Americans were killed and three wounded in a clash with an armored train of Gen. Semanoff, commander in chief of All-Russian armies, between Lake Baikal and Verkhneudinsk, the province of Transbaikalia, according to the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Harbin. The Americans were reported to have captured the train.

Chicago. — A six-year job faces federal prohibition agents in making the United States dry, according to H. M. Gayford, deputy commissioner of internal revenue of Washington, D.C., who addressed agents and inspectors of mid-western states.

LISTEN TO THIS!
SAYS CORNS LIFT

You needn't men and women who are prostrated with corns, according to H. M. Gayford, deputy commissioner of internal revenue of Washington, D.C., who addressed agents and inspectors of mid-western states.

It is a sticky ether compound which does the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of frezeme will cure every Blite at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn in three days.

You are further warned that cutting a corn is a suicidal habit.

A certain prairie man was hunt-

This man, who lives southeast of Elkton, got the wind up so badly that he just naturally spilled all the live stuff from his rifle onto the ground, while the moose looked on and wondered why the fellow was shaking so. After a while he managed to shoot in the general direction of the moose, knocking a piece from the horn of one, which made the moose so mad he couldn't see and he ran against a tree and killed himself. The man went home with his chest out and told how he killed a moose with one shot, and is still looking for a medal.

There seems to be a dearth of "convivial gatherings" these days, principally, we presume, owing to the lack of anything to convive.

According to the reputed habit of the humble ground hog, he emerged from his winter habitation on Monday, took a mournful squint at his shadow and returned to his cozy nest for another six weeks. We believe his bill is a wise individual.

Higher Pay For Teachers

Commencing on Nov. 1, 1917, the salary of $100.00 per month to meet the urgent needs of educational institutions in the United States and Canada. A. H. Ball, deputy minister of education for Saskatchewan, declared that no more forceful or dramatic recognition of the existence of a grave emergency could have been given.

Only prompt action on the part of those responsible for fixing the salaries of teachers in this province, and Mr. Ball, can stop the present flow of the best material from the teaching profession into other and more lucrative occupations. Unless this action is taken, Saskatchewan will lose from its schools the intellectual cream of the province, and be forced to depend on second rate and third rate teachers for the education of its future citizens.

Gas of Canada's

Future Success

Canadian Development Must Depend Upon a Constant Influx of Suitable Immigrants

Ernest H. Godfrey, of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa, in a paper before the Royal Statistical Society on "Fifty Years of Canadian Progress as Illustrated by Official Statistics, 1867-1917," drew attention to the remarkable increase in the foreign-borne population of the Dominion, due to the policy of the Dominion and provincial governments. From 1901 to 1918 the reserves had, he said, increased from 7,413,700 acres to 12,843,953 acres in addition to an estimated 20,000,000 of acres of unallocated land in British Columbia.

Discussing the future, Mr. Godfrey said that to a large extent Canadian development must depend upon a constant influx of suitable immigrants and of capital. It was probable that settlement in well organized communities in which women would take their natural part would relieve the isolation of prairie farming. The settlement of the Hudson Bay land and the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway should provide important new outlets for Canadian products. It would be held to attempt to forestall the future effect of aviation on national progress, but it was already evident he remarked, that exploration and prospecting in lands inaccessible by rail would benefit immensely by the means of locomotion. There was a practically unlimited field open to Canada in every direction, whether as regarded agriculture, forestry, fisheries, minerals or manufactures.

A Tribute to Manhood

Prince of Wales Has A High Sense of Duty.

No visitor of any rank from any country ever had such a welcome from America as the young Prince of Wales. To what is all this due? It is due, in the minds of all who have followed the reports of his tour, to qualities and ideals which would give distinction to the man if he were not the Prince. He has a charm of manner, sincerity, simplicity and a high sense of duty. He has brains. His speeches, which are his own, reveal some gift of oratory and a very hearty common sense. His actions show a level head on attractively young and unspoiled shoulders. He has, we are persuaded, done work of extreme importance for the Empire and for civilization. We may all pay him a tribute of quite genuine homage without suspicion of sycophancy or fear of turning his quite sane head.—London Daily Express.

Successes For Western Canada

Prizes Won at the International Exhibition Held in Chicago.

At the International Exhibition held at Chicago on December 2, competitors from Western Canada again demonstrated the superiority of their grains by carrying off, among others, nine prizes and several ribbons for hard spring wheat. The successful exhibitors, in order, were as follows: J. C. Mitchell, Dabinda, J. S. Field, Regina; Seager Wheeler, Rosthern; Andler-Brothers, Wileox; A. Tait, Semans; Robert Clark, Speers, and J. E. Cadara, South Forks, all from Saskatchewan; E. F. Young, Oak Lake, and Samuel Lacombe, Birtle, represented Manitoba.

In the Durum classes, P. Keezel and E. F. Young, both of Oak Lake, Manitoba, won first and second, respectively.

In scarified barley, Seager Wheeler, Rosthern, Sask., was first, and Samuel Lacombe, Birtle, Man., second.

It will be remembered that Mr. J. S. Field was the winner of the sweepstakes and C. F. K. cup for hard spring wheat and first prize and sweepstakes for oats at the International Soil Products Exposition, at Kansas City recently, while the successes of Seager Wheeler are so well known as to need no enumeration.

A Nervous Wreck

BY DR. D. L. GRANTIER.

How many business men feel fagged out, nervous, with a "soggy brain"—worn out completely before the day and its tremendous tasks are half over? Try the right way! Clean the body first. That will help your nerves, your head and your circulation. Your doctor will tell you that anything from a headache or a common cold to grippé or a serious illness may result from allowing food to ferment in the intestines. Don't give the body a chance to absorb the poisons. Remove the toxins from the system and give the tissues of the body aid to resist disease by taking an occasional laxative such as castor oil, or a tiny pill made up of May-apple, aloin, jalap, and sold by most druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The kidneys and bladder suffer from the wear and tear, and we get chronic inflammations sometimes indicated by backache, painful voiding of water—dull, heavy feelings. Perhaps the uric acid is stored up in the system in excessive amount, and consequently when the urate salts are deposited in muscles and joints one suffers from lumbago (pain in back), rheumatic pains, gout, etc.

Nothing will act so nicely as "Anurio" (anti-uric-acid), a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce's which can be had at all drug stores. "Anurio" washes away the poisons, cleanses the bladder and kidneys—rendering them antiseptic—consequently one is soon cured of lumbago, rheumatism, gout, and the body is put into a clean, healthy state.

"Father, who was Shylcock?"

"Goodness boy! You attend the finest school in the district, and don't know who Shylcock was?" cried his father, with a look of surprise and horror. "Go and read your Bible, sir!"

Germany Shipped Guns to Mexico

Exportation of War Material Is Violation of Armistice.

Two shipments of machine guns and machine gun accessories being sent to Mexico from Germany and discovered in transit, via Holland, have been held up by the Allied military authorities, according to information reaching United States officials at Coblenz.

The exportation of war material by Germany is a violation of the armistice and peace treaty. The German government has been asked to explain the shipments and notified not to attempt any similar exportation of such arms.

The first shipment consisted of four carloads of second hand machine guns, all boxed and ready for ocean transport. This shipment comprised 2,000 machine guns and, according to Marshal Foch, the guns arrived in Holland on November 28, the soldiers being the firm of Breckman and Smit Gun, of Cassel. The consignees were the Johan Muntz Arms and Trading Company of Amsterdam.

The communication to the Inter-Allied Armistice commission at Coblenz, giving notice of these shipments, says that Marshal Foch has information showing that the shipments had been made "Across Holland, with destination Mexico."
